A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost) * 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Maintenance and Operations

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an agile maintenance and operations process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

- Project manager
- System architect
- System engineer (s)
- Technical support engineer (s)

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an Agile implementation and configuration process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources, that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

- Project manager/scrum master
- Architect
- System engineer (s)
- System tester (s)
- Business analyst (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost) * 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Maintenance and Operations

Add-on services description:

Implementation Services

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an Agile implementation and configuration process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources, that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

- Project manager/scrum master
- Architect
- System engineer (s)
- System tester (s)
- Business analyst (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost) * 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Maintenance and Operations

- Project manager/scrum master
- Architect
- System engineer (s)
- System tester (s)
- Business analyst (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Vendor will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for vendor's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost)

* 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Add-on services description:*Implementation Services

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an Agile implementation and configuration process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources, that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

43230000-24-STC

Digital Security Solutions

- Project manager/scrum master
- Architect
- System engineer (s)
- System tester (s)
- Business analyst (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost) * 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Maintenance and Operations

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an agile maintenance and operations process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

- Project manager
- System architect
- System engineer (s)
- Technical support engineer (s)
- Technical trainer (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on the scope such as managed endpoints, maintenance duration, system tuning, tickets managed, incident response timeframe and Service Level Objectives (SLOs).

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 80 story points with be estimated at $38,776.00 (sprint cost) * 8 sprints = $310,208.00.

Add-on services description:*Implementation Services

Customers may elect to engage with Deloitte in an Agile implementation and configuration process using customer tools or Deloitte managed solutions and pay for Services on a fixed price per sprint basis. The sprint team is comprised of both dedicated and shared resources, that includes a composition of the following roles based on the project requirements defined with the customer and serves as the basis for the cost calculation:

- Project manager/scrum master
- Architect
- System engineer (s)
- System tester (s)
- Business analyst (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on customer's implementation and configuration requirements (scope) such as number of endpoints, data separation considerations, access limitations, false positive tuning based on customer's technology landscape and ticketing tools integration.

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 50 story points with be estimated at $46,477.00 (sprint cost) * 5 sprints = $232,385.00

Maintenance and Operations

- Project manager
- System architect
- System engineer (s)
- Technical support engineer (s)
- Technical trainer (s)

A sprint team will deliver ten story points in one sprint. A story point is a unit of measure for a task requiring 12-16 hours of effort. The duration of a sprint is flexible. Deloitte will work with the customer to estimate the story points based on the scope such as managed endpoints, maintenance duration, system tuning, tickets managed, incident response timeframe and Service Level Objectives (SLOs).

Customers can procure additional sprint teams to further scale up or down the team as needed. In the event a Service Proposal is terminated, Customer shall pay all amounts due for Deloitte's Services and ultimately accepted by the Customer.

Example: For a scope that involves 80 story points with be estimated at $38,776.00 (sprint cost) * 8 sprints = $310,208.00.
